

L3 Leadership Learning

With all the talk about Leadership these days many managers and executives are frustrated by the myriad of approaches to Leadership Development.

L3 Leadership assumes a different position than traditional or even more progressive leadership models.

L3 Leadership is more about who you are than it is about what position you hold, what training you have had, or what personality traits you bring to both work and life situations.

L3 Leadership Learning is based on the most recent and relevant leadership research. This learning and developmental process uses a variety of in depth self-awareness tools and activities to enhance leadership capabilities.

Our blended learning approach assists each participant in understanding the behavioral links between self-mastery and transformational leadership.

L3 moves the leadership learner through a process that helps them explore, define, and then provide leadership based on their personal values, strengths and vision. Through extensive assessment, group dialogue, self reflection, small-group activities and personal coaching, each participant is enabled to design their own personal leadership-learning plan.

This plan is presented to the participant's manager as part of the continuity of classroom learning and motivation to ongoing learning that will stick

The L3 Leadership Learning Program explores three critical attributes of effective Leaders

- L1- Leading Self: Personal Mastery and Work-Life Integration
- L2- Leading With Others: Cultivating and Sustaining Collaborative Advantage
- L3- Leading Others: Creating a Culture of Engagement and The Best Place To Work

L3 Leadership Learning is based on the fact that personal leadership is a “state of being”. It is who you are, what you believe and how you behave. This state of being reflects your foundation values. It encompasses your vision of the future and your presence in the moment.

The L3 leadership model emphasizes a state of being, which is the sum total of your attitudes and beliefs, actions and values.

Specifically, The L3 model comprises three integrated leadership competencies that determine how you lead and who will follow.

Cost: 5400.00 for the 4 month development process